

“The trouble with you British,” said French circus veteran Pierrot Bidon, washing down a bottle of red wine with three glasses of Ricard before the day’s rehearsal, “is that you do not understand danger.”