CIRC. 54,584

A sexy circus without sawdust

DESCRIBED by one critic as: "Exhilarating, dangerous and theatrically hard to equal" the self-styled sexiest circus on earth, Archaos, comes to the North-West next week.

If past form is anything to go by, then this really is not to be missed.

They wowed 'em last year at the Edinburgh Festival when they juggled with live chainsaws and jousted on high speed motorbikes, and this year's show, entitled "Bouinax" promises more of the same.

If athletic acrobats astride a London taxi, or a manacled man serving as a slave to a juggler king, or flirty folks in the briefest of briefs, or women in waders is your thing, then Archaos is for you!

Archaos runs in the Big Top at Manchester's Platt Fields from June 27 to July 15 before continuing its merry mental four month tour round the country.

A full report on the proceedings will be featured in next week's Gemini. See you then. Hopefully.
