

GLASTONBURY

Not exactly a bad trip, but nowhere near as baggy as ARCHAOS who, despite their fing awful French prog rock, are pretty stunning to watch. There are nudes atop the pyramid, some geezer suspended above the crowd in a cage, a highwire artist walking above the beer tent, fire-blowers and a car that crashes down the side of the stage. If there is any message, rhyme or reason to this spectacle, it's lost on the lot of us. We're just blasted on the visuals.
